RESPECT

Because you have respected Me, I will respect you, says the Lord. You have been disrespected, but you respected My Words and respected My covenants. Therefore, I will bring again to My people respect from those who mocked and scoffed them. I will bring respect back to My ministers who have not disrespected My ways. I will bring respect back to My Church and this nation, says the Lord. America will once again respect Me and will be respected once again in the world by all nations. The flag will be respected. The military will be respected. Police will be respected. Those that have stood for what is right in My sight shall be respected. Prophets that have carried My words to the world shall once again be respected. But those that have been disrespectful to My ways I will not respect. So, lift up your heads with confidence, knowing this day My respect for you shall be seen, says your God!
